McCrae and Yancer Named Managing Partners

Grove City, Ohio - C. J. Mahan Construction Company, LLC., announced today that Douglas R. McCrae and Gary D. Yancer have been named Managing Partners of the firm. McCrae and Yancer are succeeding C. Jeffrey Mahan, company founder. The new executive appointments are effective immediately and are the culmination of the long-term succession plan developed by the partners.

Gary D. Yancer and Douglas R. McCrae

Mr. Yancer has been with the company since 1989, serving in various capacities including Project Manager, Chief Engineer, and Vice President prior to becoming Partner in 2004. His prior professional experience includes bridge and roadway design with a local Columbus engineering firm, and quality assurance for the Ohio Department of Transportation. Mr. Yancer holds a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering from The Ohio State University, and is a registered Professional Engineer. Prior to this promotion, Mr. Yancer was the senior partner in charge of project delivery including Engineering and Project Management

Mr. McCrae joined the firm in 1993 and was made partner in 2004. Mr. McCrae graduated from Bowling Green State University in 1988 with a Bachelor of Science in Construction Management. After graduating and prior to coming to C.J. Mahan Construction Company he served as a project manager for Geupel Construction Company, a heavy civil contracting firm headquartered in Columbus, Ohio. Prior to this promotion, Mr. McCrae was the senior partner in charge of business acquisition and marketing.

Former Managing Partner and Founder C. Jeffrey Mahan will continue as Chairman of the Board and will be responsible for analysis of growth strategies including corporate development, acquisitions and international expansion.
